Company Profile

Starting business back in November 2002 as a translation services provider, PoliLingua grew extensively in order to successfully fulfill clients' demands. Developing a vast range of language services, such as multilingual transcription, voice-over, international Search Engine Optimization (SEO) and more, we are happy to meet a great deal of our customers' needs: from translating handouts for international symposiums to transcending business towards global reach.

Once operating from home, now we have representation in New York City, Berlin, Paris, Chisinau and London. From start to present days, we always welcomed clients big and small. Be it a large corporation or a one-man consultancy – every customer is equally important to us!

OUR COMPANY'S PHILOSOPHY LIES TOWARDS:

Making clients' lives easier through our wide spectrum of services

Building great working relationships with clients and suppliers

Delivering outstanding quality and excellent customer support;

Ensuring happiness, safety and fulfillment of our staff;

Growing a win-win business relation.

Professional Translation

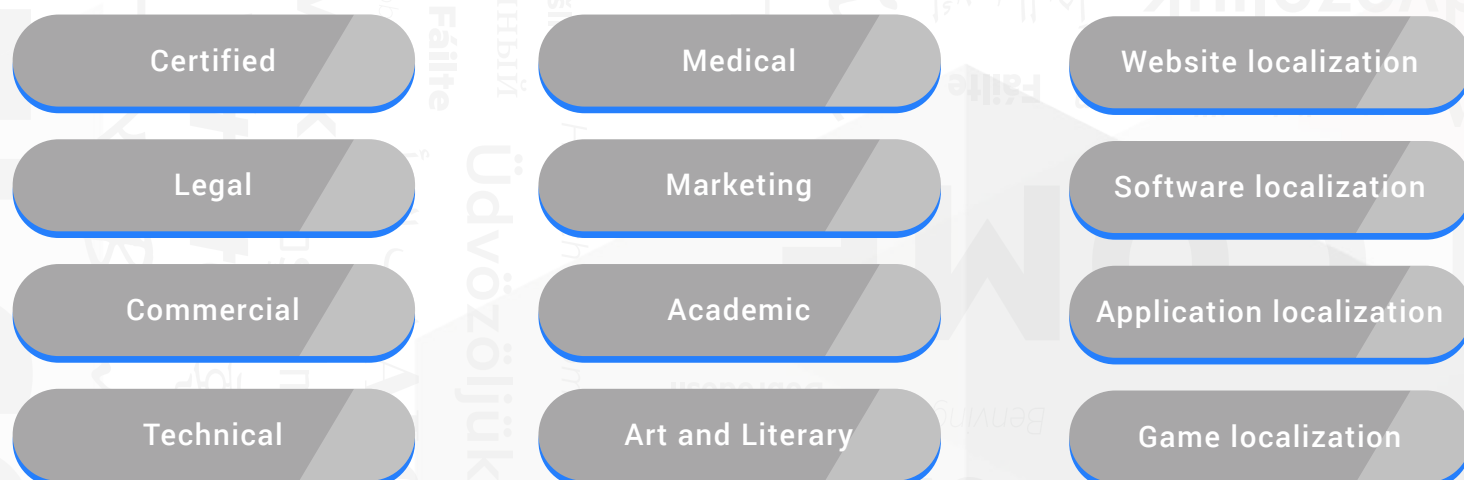

The globalization of many areas of business means that it's necessary for customers to have access to products and services in their own language. By translating aspects of your business, such as documentation, websites and software, you can ensure that you reach the largest market possible – therefore increasing your profits and decreasing customer problems through miscommunication.

We assign native to target-language translators for our texts in order to convey the same meaning and emotional impact from the source language. Fielding over 7,000 professional translators, we can provide specialists in numerous fields of expertise. Our linguists work with latest resources and CAT-tools to provide high-quality translations with strong respect to deadlines.

Our pride lies in the talent of our experienced translators, efficient editors and competent content managers and proofreaders.

Translation and Localization Subject Areas

And basically anything else requiring professional translation or localization.

Multilingual Transcription

PoliLingua provides transcription and typing services in over 40 languages for all industries and professions at an affordable rate. We specialize in legal transcription, academic research transcription, financial, insurance and investigation transcription and general business typing and secretarial services.

Our clients upload their dictation, audio recordings of interviews, legal documents, court hearing recordings, teleconferences, podcasts or focus groups via our secure, cutting edge transcription workflow system.

Our expert transcriptionists and proof-readers will deliver exceptional quality transcripts within your chosen timeframe. We can use your templates or tailor-make templates for you at no extra cost and we cater for all realistic deadlines.

Desktop Publishing

Our in-house designers are experts not only in creating the right graphics and layout for your business, but also in getting this across in a wide range of languages. This includes the use of multiple language fonts and word processing software. Our team are also experts in foreign and cultural conventions in the printed word, helping to ensure your message is displayed in the best possible way to a wide range of audiences. All of our professionals are highly qualified translators, making sure PoliLingua is able to meet all of your needs.

PoliLingua services provide experts in a number of desktop publishing applications: Adobe Photoshop, Adobe InDesign, Adobe Illustrator, Adobe FrameMaker, Scribus, Microsoft Publisher, CorelDraw.

You can either give us your requirements to start the project from scratch, or we can adapt existing documents to be used in different languages – alerting you to any foreign-language conventions that may affect the readability of your product.

Multilingual SEO

Subtitling

As a subtitling company PoliLingua works with subtitle translators who are native speakers of the target language. They ensure that your subtitles sound just right and tell the right story to your audience. Other team members handle the technical aspects of synchronization, subtitle format, and, where needed, inserting the subtitles into the video. Subtitle files can be supplied in any of the supported formats you may require. PoliLingua provides confidence that your video will look and sound right to all your audiences around the world, wherever they live and whatever language they speak.

Our professional linguists accurately capture the cultural aspects of your video content. Linguists have special expertise across a wide range of topics.
